Our tendency is to run away from the painful realities or to try to change them as soon as possible. But cure without care makes us into rulers, controllers, manipulators, and prevents a real community from taking shape. Cure without care makes us preoccupied with quick changes, impatient and unwilling to share each other's burdens. And so cure can often become offending instead of liberating."

Healing relationships are intentional

It must be a place where everyone takes
their masks off

They help you deal
with root causes
(i.e. wounds & idolatries) and not just symptom-relief

They are there for the long-haul and know that grace builds upon our human nature over time.

They help bring you to Jesus through the lifestyle of accountability, healing prayer, warfare and "incarnational" discipleship.
